General Marking Guidance

- All candidates must receive the same treatment. Examiners must mark the first candidate in exactly the same way as they mark the last.
- Mark schemes should be applied positively. Candidates must be rewarded for what they have shown they can do rather than penalised for omissions.
- Examiners should mark according to the mark scheme not according to their perception of where the grade boundaries may lie.
- There is no ceiling on achievement. All marks on the mark scheme should be used appropriately.
- All the marks on the mark scheme are designed to be awarded. Examiners should always award full marks if deserved, i.e. if the answer matches the mark scheme. Examiners should also be prepared to award zero marks if the candidate's response is not worthy of credit according to the mark scheme.
- Where some judgement is required, mark schemes will provide the principles by which marks will be awarded and exemplification may be limited.
- When examiners are in doubt regarding the application of the mark scheme to a candidate's response, the team leader must be consulted.
- Crossed out work should be marked UNLESS the candidate has replaced it with an alternative response.

 - iii) organise information clearly and coherently, using specialist vocabulary when appropriate.*

Question	Indicative content
1(c)	Indicative content guidance Answers must be credited by using the level descriptors (below) in line with the general marking guidance. The indicative content below exemplifies some of the points that candidates may make but this does not imply that any of these must be included. Other relevant points must also be credited. Knowledge, Application, Analysis, Evaluation – indicative content <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A takeover over is when one business buys a controlling share in another business • IAG has spent €1bn to take over Air Europa which could result in diseconomies of scale and internal communication problems • Diseconomies of scale occur when there is an increase in average/unit costs as a business grows • By taking over another airline, IAG may see communication between different parts of the organisation and along the chain of command more difficult due to the size of the organisation • Existing employees at Air Europa might become demotivated by being taken over by a much larger business • This could add to overall costs for IAG • However, IAG already owns two other Spanish airlines, Iberia and Vueling, so has experience of taking over other airlines in this market which could minimise communication issues • Air Europa is already a successful airline in its own right and IAG could gain valuable niche routes to South America which could offset any additional costs from the takeover
